Seasonal Beach Lifegaurd
My experience as a beach lifeguard has prepared me for web development by sharpening my decision-making and problem-solving skills under pressure. As a lifeguard, I learned to quickly assess situations and find solutions, which is essential when troubleshooting in coding. Working in a team during rescues helped me develop strong communication and collaboration skills that I now apply when working with development teams and clients. The attention to detail I needed on the beach has also improved my ability to spot errors and optimize user experiences. Additionally, managing high-stress situations built my resilience, helping me stay focused during demanding projects. These skills have made me more effective as a web developer.
